

Specialty Glass, Inc.

*Serving the Scientific Community
..... since 1975*

For over 25 years, Specialty Glass has been manufacturing the highest quality laboratory glassware and equipment for the scientific community.

As a glassware manufacturer, Specialty Glass utilizes glass raw materials purchased from primary glass manufacturers and re-works these materials to fabricate standard or custom scientific glassware. Production capabilities include glass repairs, glass re-forming, grinding, polishing, tube cutting and finishing, glass amberizing, glass silvering, and plastic coating.

Specialty Glass sells a number of products to make it more convenient for our customers to purchase complete systems. These products include heating mantles, clamps, power controllers, O-rings, stirrer motors, shakers and a variety of plastics.

Our Thermoplastics Department can fabricate a variety of customized products including: fume hoods, safety shields, dry boxes, instrument covers, instrument enclosures, splash shields, tote buckets, catch pans, containment vessels, chemical storage trays and sink backslashes.

Our Mission

At Specialty Glass, whether it is custom laboratory glassblowing, glass repair, or thermoplastics fabrication, we firmly believe and hold true to our long-standing goal of supplying our valued customers with quality products, craftsmanship and service. We believe this is the key to our success and the continued growth of our company since 1975.

Specialty Glass, Inc. is dedicated to producing glassware that is consistent with regulatory requirements for glass apparatus used for testing in research and development labs according to scientific methods (ASTM).

In addition to producing an excellent line of standard products, our skilled glassblowers take pride in their ability to develop prototypes for new designs and to repair damaged laboratory and scientific glassware efficiently and cost effectively.
